HONORS AND RECOGNITION:

Memphis to Mumbai: Archaeology Inspired by R. Barry Lewis. Society for American Archaeology Symposium, 24 Apr 09.

Abstract: The career and intellectual contributions of R. Barry Lewis continue to inspire scholars and influence anthropological research from the Americas to Southeast Asia. Although his formal training and career focused in archaeology, the essence of Barry's legacy incorporates the very best of the four-field approach in anthropology. His contributions within archaeology include subsistence practices, economic organization, the structure and organization of public space, research methods, assemblage analysis, along with archaeological method and theory. The papers in this session draw on these themes through a diversity of research projects and assemblages extending from Eastern North America to India.
